Spring Time is Service Time

Lakeside Stove and Fireplace would like to thank you for your past patronage and take this opportunity to stress the importance of spring and summer maintenance.

Wood Stove Maintenance

Annual maintenance is recommended for all wood burning stoves and inserts. Today's stoves are capable of burning very clean, however the chimney system still needs to be inspected and swept every year. If left unchecked, creosote accumulation in the chimney can affect the draft and performance of your stove, or can result in a dangerous chimney fire. Our maintenance procedure typically involves:

1. Thoroughly cleaning and inspecting entire chimney system. This includes disconnecting any pipe necessary to do a thorough job. Fireplace inserts may need to be removed or partially disassembled to do the cleaning job properly.
2. Gaskets are checked for wear and can be replaced if necessary for an additional charge. Gaskets that are excessively worn can reduce the efficiency and affect the performance of your stove.
3. Many stoves have catalytic combustors that require cleaning and inspection to insure proper functioning.
4. Dampers, draft controls, or any other moving parts will be checked to see if any parts are worn or any adjustments are necessary.

Our service people are the best qualified to perform this maintenance. As a stove dealer, we also have access to parts and technical information direct from the manufacturers.

Do Not Wait Until The Fall

Due to the seasonal nature of our business, we get a tremendous volume of calls for service in the fall and winter. Because of this, it becomes impossible for us to handle all of your requests for service at that time. We want to be able to take care of our customers who need service. To be able to do this, we need to hear from you as early as possible this spring or summer to schedule your work.

If you have any questions as to whether or not your wood stove is working properly, or if you need parts or service, call now. We can answer any questions about the service of your unit.

We remain committed to providing the very finest quality products and services available in the hearth products industry.

Thank you again for your business. We look forward to hearing from you soon.
